Gosling Jr.'s Restaurant will be sold at the Merchents' Exchange, at auction, on WEDNESDAY, Oct. 27, at 11 o'clock. The proprietor of this favorite and well-known Restaurant being obliged to relinquish the business, and in consequence of the many applicants for his establishment since he has intimated his desire of retiring from the same, has determined to sell it at public nuction. The contamoding situation of this property, on which there is a valuable lease of ten years, the immense numbers who are continuelly passing to and from the different steamboata, railroads, &c., the immediate vicinity of the ferries, together with the improvements going on in Liberty, Weshington and Greenwich-sta, sill tend to render this spot one of the most valuable in New-York.
